CLUNG TO WRECKAGE AFTER THE COLLISION.

Too Weak to Signal for Help, He Was Buffeted by the Waves Until Seen by Crew of Passing Schooner.

Second Mate Edward P. Graham, of the schooner Theta, who was reported killed when the schooner was run into by an unknown steamer last Sunday. has been landed at Perth Amboy by the schooner Cohasset in an exhausted and probably hopeless condition. Atcording to his story he went through a most terrible experience. Graham had the deck watch when the unknown steamer ran into the starboard quarter of the Theta. He was knocked overboard and stunned by the fall. When or the Theta. He was knocked overboard and stunned by the fall. When he came to the surface he was fortunate enough to find a piece of wreckage, to which he clung.

The Theta as well as the steamer with which she had collided had disappeared in the darkness, and huge waves tossed Graham against pieces of lumber and other wreckage floating in the water. In some almost miraculous manner he escaped being ground to pieces by the wreckage and retained his hold on the beam to which he had lashed himself as well as he could. Thus he managed to keep anive and floating for forty-eight hours.

Several snips passed him, but he was too weak to make his voice heard or to attract the attention of the crews in any other way. The Cohasset, Capt Stewart, which had been driven out of its course by the storm, came so cleas that Graham was sighted by the watch. Mate Snodgrass and two sallors rescued the shipwrecked mate with great difficulty and brought him on board the Cohasset. Graham was in an exhausted condition and nearly starved. His body was covered with cuts and bruises, and for a time it was feared that he would not survive. He is still in a critical condition at Perth Amboy.

The Theta was abandoned by its crew after the collision, and was shortly afterward picked up by the steamer Pathfinder and towed to New York, while the rest of the crew, consisting of the captain and seven men, was picked up by the Clyde liner Mohican and landed at Wilmington, S. C.

A Great Combination This: NEW PIANOS: Prices Sharply Reduced

We sell Pianos as we do other merchandise, for the least prices possible, and we find that our regular prices are the lowest anywhere for Pianos of equal grade.

When the chance comes, therefore, to save a good many dollars on our regular prices, it is not to be missed, if you mean to buy a Piano at all.

We have reduced prices on certain new Pianos thus, because the makers have brought out new case designs, and these Pianos must give way quickly to the newer styles. The actions in the new Pianos are no better than those we have had from the makers—for they all touch high-water mark of excellence.

You are sacrificing nothing but the novelty of a new-style case. You are gaining perhaps as much as $150 on the price. Some first-class Piapos which have been used are in the Sale, also-those we have taken in exchange and those of our own Pianos returned from rentals. Our guarantee goes with these, too-small as
